Opening of I-30 Link Spells Expansion Era for Hope

From your observation of the impact of the Interstate Highway System on other towns you know that today's opening of the Hope-Emmett link of I-30 means Hope is due for an expansion of building and trade.

Some trade is lost, of course, in businesses which depend heavily on tourist traffic, but this is made up—and far more—by the new construction which follows as the city spreads out along the approach roads to I-30.

The classic example is Northwest Arkansas, which isn't even on the Interstate system. But it does have a trunk road, U.S. Highway 71, an artery for traffic from Kansas City to New Orleans. That highway has become the business Broadway of the northwestern counties.

On several tours of the northwest the last 15 or 20 years I have been startled by the changes in town layouts. Once upon a time Fayetteville, Springdale, and Rogers were separate communities. Now they are virtually one unbroken line of stores and housing.

Yet each community retains its own government, its own banking, its own newspapers.

So big things are ahead of Hope with the completion of I-30 through town. And the same goes for Prescott when the final link is completed through the Nevada county seat next year.

Section of I-30 Opens Here Tuesday Morning

Without ceremony a 6.7 mile section of Interstate Route 30 was opened to all traffic, cars and trucks, between Hope and Emmet at 10 a.m. Tuesday. This will give relief to the critical traffic congestion through Hope just prior to the heavy Thanksgiving traffic.

The Hope bypass was built by four prime contractors at a total cost of $5,170,000 including right-of-way.

This leaves only a 10 mile section from Emmet to Prescott under construction and completion of this stretch is not expected until the fall of 1972.

Connally Eased Chance of Head-on Collision

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chances of averting a head-on Democratic-Republican collision on Phase 2 legislation appear improved as a result of Treasury Secretary John B. Connally's hints at possible accommodations.

Connally talked at a broadcast news conference Monday about the legislation to underpin the new phase of economic controls. He discussed specifically two issues on which Democratic majority members of congressional committees have been at odds with President Nixon's Republican administration: retroactive payment of previously contracted pay increases and interest controls.

The administration has fought hard against an amendment adopted by the House Banking Committee to require retroactive payment of wage increases provided for in previously negotiated contracts but cut off during the 90-day freeze.

Nixon wanted this determination left to the Pay Board, and his spokesmen contended that even the committee's provision that grossly disproportionate increases could be disallowed was not enough.

Connally said the administration still opposes the amendment. But he said a different one adopted by the Senate Banking Committee might be in the direction of an acceptable provision.

The Senate amendment would permit disallowing retroactive raises unreasonably inconsistent with standards established under the control authority.

Connally did not dwell on the difference between "grossly disproportionate" and "unreasonably inconsistent" but emphasized his view that the Senate version takes into account the findings of the control authorities.

"That might be acceptable in the final analysis if we can get language of that kind," he said.

Democratic sources close to the House Banking Committee, while not predicting that it would agree to a language change when it goes back to work on the legislation, said, "Of course, we will be influenced by what the Senate does."

The Senate, farther along in its consideration of the legislation, may take final action early next week.

Pressure Is on to Force Withdrawals

WASHINGTON (AP) — Opening debate on the military spending bill, the Senate is focusing today on separate moves to force withdrawal of U.S. troops from Europe and Indochina.

The success of both pull-out moves is in doubt.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee added an amendment authored by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield that would cut off funds for any American military personnel in western Europe in excess of 250,000. The United States now has about 300,000 troops in there.

The defense bill as recommended by the committee to-tails $70.2 billion—$805 million less than that approved by the House and $3.3 billion below the Nixon administration's original request.

The European troop ceiling measure faces opposition from Nixon and senators who contend a precipitous cut would weaken western Europe's defenses and hamper negotiations with the Soviet Union.

Sen. Charles McC. Mathias, R-Md., has introduced a resolution calling for negotiations with the European members of the North Atlantic Alliance and the Communist Warsaw Pact nations to find a formula for mutual and balanced force reductions.

His views, however, were disputed by Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien, who said: "The American economy is in deep trouble and no amount of well-orchestrated cheering, even by such an experienced cheerleader as John Connally, can alter the situation."

Connally aimed most of his remarks in a broadcast news conference Monday at AFL-CIO President George Meany, accusing the labor leader of acting in a boorish and arrogant manner toward President Nixon last week.

Connally said Meany was discourteous after Nixon addressed an AFL-CIO convention in Miami. While Nixon was shaking hands with delegates, Meany stepped to the podium and gavelled the convention to order.

Enemy Base in Cambodia Destroyed

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — One of the South Vietnamese task forces advancing into eastern Cambodia reported destroying part of an empty North Vietnamese base camp today.

"We found many bunkers and destroyed them," said Lt. Gen. Nguyen Xuan Tinh. "We also found abandoned rocket positions."

Tinh said the 1,000-man Ranger task force was spearheaded by 40 armored vehicles and had penetrated 15 miles into Cambodia in the two-day-old drive to smash headquarters and supply depots of three North Vietnamese divisions. The Rangers were reported nine miles north of Krok.

The operation so far has met only light resistance. At the end of the first day, field commanders reported 36 North Vietnamese killed in small, scattered clashes, and no South Vietnamese casualties were reported.

At least 5,000 South Vietnamese troops and part of a 150-vehicle armored brigade were committed to the initial phase of the operation, which is expected to last about a month. Also standing by in reserve are 2,500 Cambodian soldiers.

South Vietnamese commanders said they hoped the advance of their troops would force the North Vietnamese to pull back some of their forces who have been threatening Phnom Penh, the Cambodian capital. But Cambodian military sources said they believed the enemy instead was pulling troops down from the north-eastern front, where Hanoi's 9th Division pinned a force of 20,000 Cambodian troops earlier this month.

The U.S. Command reported no B52 bombing raids over South Vietnam for the first time in recent weeks, indicating some of the big bombers were diverted to support the South Vietnamese drive into Cambodia.

The command reported two more air strikes in North Vietnam.

Committee Okays Court Nominees

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee approved today President Nixon's nomination of Lewis F. Powell Jr. and William H. Rehnquist to fill two vacancies on the Supreme Court.

The vote on Powell, a Richmond, Va., attorney was unanimous. The committee recommended Senate confirmation of Rehnquist, an assistant attorney general, by a vote of 12 to 4.

The committee members who voted against Rehnquist's nomination were Birch Bayh, D-Ind.; Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.; Philip Hart, D-Mich.; and John V. Tunney, D-Calif.

Sen. Quentin N. Burdick, D-N.D., whose position on the Rehnquist's nomination had been regarded as in doubt, voted with the majority to recommend Senate confirmation.

The committee's action cleared the way for the Senate to take up the nominations, but Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said they will be the last item on the agenda before adjournment.

Mansfield hopes to wind up the present session of Congress before the middle of December.

Rehnquist, 47, a Phoenix lawyer before his appointment in 1969 as a top aide to Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, has been nominated to succeed retired Justice John M. Harlan. Powell, 64, a former president of the American Bar Association, would replace the late Hugo L. Black.

Senators Sit on Butz

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield didn't understand why senators laughed when he announced the Senate schedule and intoned: "Bringing up the rear will be the nomination of Mr. Butz."

Butz is Earl L. Butz, President Nixon's nominee to be secretary of agriculture.

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott did understand and replied: "I can envision the headlines—'Senate Sits on Butz'—which is what we've been doing all year."

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon was quoted as telling Senate Republican leaders today he will seriously consider vetoing the tax bill if it reaches the White House with its present revenue reductions and presidential campaign finance provisions.

The $27 billion tax cut bill passed the Senate Monday night after Democrats tied on an amendment for public financing of presidential campaigns, beginning in 1972.

Scott said he and Senate Republican Whip Robert P. Griffin of Michigan discussed the tax bill and other issues at breakfast with Nixon.

Scott said over the next nine years, the tax bill passed by the Senate would add $56 billion to the tax reductions proposed by the administration to stimulate the economy. He called the campaign finance provision "tax relief for Democrats."

"I strongly urged him to veto the bill," Scott said after his meeting with Nixon.

Scott said the President replied he would give "very serious consideration to my request."

The GOP leader quoted Nixon as saying he would wait until he saw the final form of the bill, which goes now to a House-Senate conference committee, before deciding what to do about it.

"I have the impression that the bill is in considerable danger unless it is drastically changed," Scott said.

More than half the Republican senators voted against the measure, largely because of the Democratic-sponsored plan to make available up to $20.4 million in federal funds to the major-party nominees in the 1972 campaign.

The bill was passed 64 to 30 Monday night and sent into conference with the House. The conference committee is expected to do at least a trimming.

Some Republicans said they will urge President Nixon to veto the entire bill if the final version still carries the campaign-financing provision.

The final Senate bill contained many provisions asked by Nixon to benefit business, encourage modernization of plant and equipment, and give a boost to export sales.

Court Rules Bond Forfeiture

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Circuit Court Judge William J. Kirby of Little Rock directed Monday forfeiture of bond for Alphonso Alexander, 16, of Little Rock for failure to appear for trial.

Alexander had been arrested Aug. 27 and convicted in Municipal Court on a charge of assault and battery of Bob Stover, 23, an Arkansas Gazette reporter who alleged he was attacked Aug. 22 while covering a meeting of about 100 blacks at Little Rock.

The Municipal Court levied a fine of $200, with $100 suspended, after Alexander's conviction. Alexander had appealed to circuit court.

Pressure Is Growing for Removal of Surcharge

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Pressure appears to be growing here and abroad for removal of the 10 per cent surcharge on goods imported into the United States, and so it is unlikely that a decision can be postponed far into 1972.

The Council for Economic Development, whose membership includes many top executives and educators, is the latest to add its opinion, recommending that the surcharge be lifted "without undue delay."

There are problems, though, as there are with almost all aspects of the new economic plan. Some were anticipated, but it seems likely that the lowness of currency realignments is somewhat of a disappointment.

The surcharge was meant to give the United States strength in forcing a realignment of exchange rates in its favor. If nations wanted the surcharge removed, they should permit rates to change.

The change sought by the United States was an upward valuation, a revaluation, of the currency values of its trading partners. This move, although seemingly a paradox, would enlarge the relative power of the dollar.

Oversimplified for the purpose of illustrating, imports into the United States would cost more because their prices were quoted in more expensive foreign currencies; U.S. exports, bearing weaker U.S. dollar prices, would be more competitive abroad.

When the new valuations were established, it was the U.S. intention to remove the surcharge as no longer needed. If foreign currencies rose 10 per cent, for example, it would have an effect similar to the surcharge.

Such has not been the case. No currency has yet risen 10 per cent relative to the dollar, and even in cases where the realignment had been progressing, it has slowed in recent weeks.

A study by Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. shows that the dollar on Nov. 15 had effectively depreciated 6.9 per cent in relation to 14 major currencies as compared with pre-May 1971 parities.

Since Aug. 13, however, two days before the U.S. plan was announced, the decline has amounted to only 3 per cent. In some instances, the dollar has actually risen in value since then.

Here is the record since Aug. 13 of changes in exchange rates among major currencies:

Woman Sees Son Die in a Jailhouse Fire

WINTER PARK, Fla. (AP) — "Oh my God! That's my son, my poor, poor son!" screamed Strawlee Moore as policemen tried to free a young prisoner from a smoke-filled jail cell whose door was welded shut by the flames.

Mrs. Moore arrived at the Winter Park jail Monday just as policemen wearing gas masks were dragging prisoners from the cells in the rear of the police station.

Michael Moore, 21, and DeWayne Paige, 19, had been arrested the night before on charges of trespassing at Rollins College and Moore's mother wanted to arrange bail.

As choking policemen and prisoners began exiting from the smoke-filled cell area, Mrs. Moore heard a scream.

"Let me in!" she screamed. "Oh please, please, please let me to him. That's my son! Oh my God, that's my poor, poor son!"

Minutes later she was told her son had died.

Foes Claim 33 Votes Against Butz

By LAWRENCE L. KNUTSON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate foes of the nomination of Dr. Earl L. Butz to be secretary of agriculture say 33 senators are committed firmly against his nomination with another 20 considering casting a no vote.

They are counting on a coalition of farm organizations, the poor, environmentalists, organized labor, those angered over low wheat and corn prices and the memory of the Ezra Taft Benson era to defeat him.

The rejection of any president's choice of Cabinet advisers is a political long shot, having occurred just twice in the last 100 years.

But opponents of the agricultural philosophy of the 62-year-old Purdue University dean are buoyed by the unusually narrow 8-to-6 bipartisan vote by which the Senate Agriculture Committee Monday sent the nomination to the Senate floor.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana put the Butz nomination behind other major pending legislation and aides said that means debate cannot begin before early December.

Anti-Butz strategists say they are hoping that delay will give them enough time to convert the narrow committee vote of approval into a defeat on the Senate floor.

Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., the Republican national chairman, said he counts up to 30 votes against the nomination. He said he believes most of them will be cast for political reasons and that, as of now, Butz will be confirmed by the majority vote required.

Opposition to Butz surfaced immediately after his nomination by President Nixon to replace Clifford Hardin, who resigned earlier this month.

At first, that opposition was based primarily on Butz' service under Benson as an assistant secretary of agriculture in the 1950s. But senators soon were reading many of Butz' speeches in the last 15 years, in which he advocated what his foes now call a "survival of the fittest" philosophy for family farmers.

Butz has resigned as a Ralston-Purina director and from two other agri-business boards. And Hardin has accepted the job as Ralston-Purina's vice chairman.

Monday, at the committee's direct request, Butz reluctantly agreed to sell within 90 days of his confirmation the estimated $119,000 in stock he holds in Ralston-Purina and the two other firms, Stokely-Van Camp and International Minerals and Chemicals Corp., a fertilizer manufacturer.

Meatcutters Strike a Day in Protest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Union meatcutters and butcher workers at meat processing plants across the nation were to return to their jobs today after a one-day walkout Monday by 50,000 of them in protest over President Nixon's wage controls.

Plants in several places came to a complete standstill.

The protestors, numbering about half of the total membership of the Amalgamated Meatcutters Union, stayed away from their jobs and some gathered to hear a closed-circuit television address by union secretary Patrick E. Gorman to the AFL-CIO convention in Miami Beach.

Gorman called upon the AFL-CIO to use whatever means necessary, including a national work stoppage or a general strike, to recover lost wages.

The object of the protest was a retroactive pay hike for the meatcutters that was held up during the wage-price freeze that ended Nov. 15.

Several managers of plants affected by the work stoppage viewed the action as an illegal strike.

The bulk of the workers involved are employed in Iowa, where an estimated 10,000 union employees stayed off their jobs in 10 cities.

Meat plants most affected throughout the nation were those operated by some of the leading processors—Rath, Swift, Armour, Cudahy, Morell, Hygrade, Wilson and Hormel.

Reunion Marks Dive to Freedom

By STRATTON DOUTHAT
Associated Press Writer
DUCK KEY, Fla. (AP) — Karl Bley returned to the Florida Keys for a Thanksgiving reunion with the people who helped him pull off a daring dive to freedom a year ago from an East German ocean liner bound for Cuba.

Celebrating with him Monday were his brother, Eric, and Bob Lowe, a fishing boat captain.

Karl greeted Lowe, a robust blond, with a gift—a pair of binoculars and a "Thank you for my freedom, Captain Bob."

"You just can't imagine how close it was," Lowe recalled. "We didn't have more than five minutes leeway."

He was reliving the moments last Nov. 29 when he and Eric raced down through the Keys at 120 miles per hour in the early morning darkness.

"We drove for 20 miles to Big Pine Key and commandeered a boat there," Lowe said.

Then, with Eric pretending to fish with a mop handle, they sailed up to the German liner "Volkerfreund Schaff" where Karl, then 24, was waiting breathlessly.

When he saw the boat Karl leaped over the rail and swam to asylum.

"It's been like the difference between fire and water," he said in broken English as he recalled his year in the United States. "Just like stepping into a different world."

Eric and his beautiful blonde wife, Marlies, fled East Germany in 1955 and came to the United States in 1961. A mechanical engineer, Eric set up a machine shop in a Chicago suburb, and began plotting Karl's escape.

Karl was only 5 when Eric left East Germany, but the brothers recognized each other immediately when reunited last Thanksgiving.

The brothers set up an escape plan, writing in code, and Eric came to the Keys during the Thanksgiving holiday last year to await Karl's ship.

When Karl made his leap to freedom, three other East Germans joined him. Eric said all three are adjusting well and the entire group would be together for Thanksgiving at his newly purchased vacation home on Duck Key.

"We have a lot to be thankful for this year," he said.

Witnesses Tell About Gunman Killing Five

BALTIMORE (AP) — Witnesses say a gunman armed with two rifles and dressed in Army fatigues yelled and laughed hysterically as he moved through a paint brush factory on a fatal shooting spree.

Five workers died. Three other persons, including the alleged assailant and a policeman, were wounded.

Police gave this account of the Monday afternoon shootings at the PPG Industries plant:

Raymond D. Ferrell-el, 30, failed to report for work Monday morning, his first absence in six months at the plant. But he appeared at the factory in the afternoon armed with a 30-30 carbine and a .30-caliber rifle.

He walked through an administrative building and a storage room to a "dipping room" where brush handles are painted, and fired about a dozen shots. They killed two men who, like Ferrell-el, worked as dippers. Still firing, the gunman returned to a storage room where police later found two other bodies. Another man shot in the shipping department died en route to a hospital.

When Ferrell-el fled the building he fired several times at converging police. Patrolman Kenneth Hayden, 24, was wounded in the left leg before two other officers shot Ferrell-el at least three times in the abdomen.

Hayden was later treated and released at a hospital. Ferrell-el remained in critical condition Monday night following surgery.

Police said homicide charges would be filed against Ferrell-el, who formerly worked as a teachers' aide for the city school system.

"He was so interested in the children," recalled Beulah M. Caldwell, assistant principal at School 141.

Ferrell-el's family told police he was a Vietnam veteran, but details of his military service were unavailable.

Mrs. Caldwell and other associates said Ferrell-el did not speak with a foreign accent.

"There was a day when I asked him about his name," Mrs. Caldwell remembered, "and he told me there was a long story to it and someday he would tell me."

Police, unable to arrive at a motive for the rampage, were exploring possible parallels to a recent Hawaii Five O television segment involving a multiple slaying, said Dennis S. Hill, police public information director.

Many characteristics, including the assailant's garb, method of operation and a bag of candy found in his pocket, resembled the television program, Hill said.

He also noted that receipts found for one rifle and ammunition were dated shortly after the broadcast.

AEA Speaker Urges Political Involvement

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Mrs. Helen Bain, past president of the National Education Association, told Arkansas educators here Monday that they should become involved in politics.

Mrs. Bain told members of the Arkansas Education Association (AEA) that education must become the top priority of government.

The AEA's two-day meeting ends here today.

In a speech last night, Mrs. Bain said that all the federal education programs spread out through the government should be consolidated into one department.

Earlier in the day, Dr. Gerald Fisher, chairman of the AEA Legislative Committee, said that the organization might be better off if it followed the lead of the Arkansas Legislative Council.

"We'd be better off supporting a program of an arm of the Legislative Council," said Fisher, about possible AEA action

Reading RR Bankrupt

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Reading Railroad, claiming it cannot pay approximately $11 million in debts and taxes coming due shortly, today filed for reorganization under the federal bankruptcy laws.

The railroad operates about 1,200 miles of track in Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware.

It filed its petition in U.S. District Court.

The Reading is the second Philadelphia-based railroad to take such action because of staggering financial problems, laid primarily to deficit operation of passenger and commuter trains.

Seventeen months ago, in the same court, the Penn Central Transportation Co., which operates America's biggest railroad system, filed for reorganization.

The Penn Central is still piling up deficits.

In September the Reading said it would discontinue some of its commuter service in the Philadelphia area if it didn't get larger subsidies from the Southeastern Pennsylvania Transportation Authority.

The Reading received a 10 per cent fare increase last February, but it said that rising costs for labor and equipment wiped it out.

The Reading, now in its 138th year, started out in 1833 as the old Philadelphia & Reading Railroad Co. It was organized to carry anthracite coal from northeastern Pennsylvania mining towns to Philadelphia.

At the time hard coal was the state's fastest growing industry

AEA Officers File Suit

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Mrs. Alice Glover, president of the Arkansas Education Association, and other AEA officers filed suit in Pulaski County Circuit Court Monday charging that a conspiracy existed between the Bellville School Board and administrators in the district.

The suit said that salary practices in the district caused abuses in the state Teacher Retirement System, the teacher salary raise laws, the state educational financial aid regulations and school attendance reports.

Supt. George C. Cowger, his wife and another employee of the system give back large portions of their salaries to the school district.

Cowger said the practice was being used "to keep our doors open."

The suit maintains that if such a practice spread through out the state "their widespread use will either bankrupt the Retirement System or significantly increase the cost of the system to the state."

Nixon Dedicates New Hospital

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon will dedicate a four-level, 140-bed hospital—heart of the planned Eisenhower Medical Center—near here Saturday.

Also attending the dedication of the $7.5 million hospital, in addition to movie stars, politicians and Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, will be Mamie Eisenhower, widow of the former president.

The hospital land, valued at about $500,000 at the time, was donated by comedian Bob Hope and his wife Dolores. Ground-breaking took place in 1969, several months after Eisenhower died.

Early Winter Storm Moves Into State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
An early winter snowstorm moved into Arkansas Monday night, dumping three to five inches of snow on various sections of the state.

The National Weather Service says a November record three inches was recorded at Adams Field in Little Rock. Russellville reported four to five inches. Three inches of snow was recorded at both Jonesboro and Harrison.

Heavy snow warnings were issued for northwest and the north central portions of the state today. Travelers warnings were issued for the remainder of the state, except the extreme south portion.

The snow was expected to end in the west and central portions of the state today and over the east portions tonight. Partly cloudy skies and warmer temperatures are expected Wednesday.

Pupils in public schools in Arkansas must have felt cheated. Usually, a heavy snow means no classes, but classes had already been dismissed for the week because of an Arkansas Education Association convention and the Thanksgiving holiday.

Highs today should be in the 30s to mid 40s with maximum temperatures Wednesday mostly in the 50s. Lows tonight are expected in the 20s to low 30s.

Overnight lows include Fayetteville 30, Harrison 27, Jonesboro 33, Pine Bluff 33, Texarkana 34, El Dorado 34, Memphis 33, Little Rock 33 and Fort Smith 33.

Precipitation reports for the 24-hour period ended at 6 a.m. include .04 at Memphis and Jonesboro, .16 at Texarkana, .19 at Fort Smith, .28 at El Dorado, .40 at Fayetteville and .48 at Harrison.

Mrs. Mitchell Staying Busy in Arkansas

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — About 300 persons, including the wife of U.S. Atty. Gen. John Mitchell, attended a concert by the Arkansas Symphony in the Pine Bluff High School Monday night.

It was the same high school where Mrs. Martha Mitchell, who is a native of Pine Bluff, was graduated.

Prior to the symphony's performance, Mrs. Mitchell was presented the key to the city by Pine Bluff Mayor Austin Franks.

Following the concert a champagne reception was held in Mrs. Mitchell's honor at the high school.

Mrs. Mitchell, her daughter, Marty, 10, two FBI men, her secretary and press agent arrived in Little Rock Sunday.

Mrs. Mitchell will return to Washington Wednesday.

While in Pine Bluff, Mrs. Mitchell has been attending a series of dinners and luncheons to meet with friends and family.

Earlier Monday, Mrs. Mitchell said she doubts if Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., wants to seek the presidency.

"I don't think he's serious, but he's a great guy," she said.

Mills has been mentioned as a possible choice for the Democratic presidential nomination next year. But, he has repeatedly said he was not a candidate. He has said, however, that he would accept the nomination if it were given him.

In an interview, Mrs. Mitchell criticized Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark.

"What's he done for Arkansas in how long he's been in office?" she said. "In that time, don't you think he could have put Arkansas on the map?"

Mrs. Mitchell is scheduled to walk through downtown Pine Bluff today to visit with the public.

Brack Schenck was high, and Mrs. Thomas Hays won the game prize. Hostesses were Mrs. Sam W. Strong, Mrs. E.M. McWilliams and Mrs. Syd McMath.

THE GENERATION RAP

—by Helen and Sue Bottel

(GOT A PROBLEM? Or a subject for discussion, two-generation style? Direct your questions to either Sue or Helen Bottel—or both, in care of this newspaper, if you want a combination mother-daughter answer.)

Overage Juvenile on Ego Trip Dear Helen and Sue:

I went with a guy for over nine months and was very much in love with him. I'm 22 and he's 27, so it wasn't just a high school romance.

I loved him so much that I took his abusive language and cruelties, thinking my love would change him. I would hold my breath sometimes, trying not to cry because tears made him even madder. I made excuses for him—his bad childhood, the tough breaks he'd had, his insecurity which made him put others down to build himself up—and that included a lot of bragging but not much truth about important things.

The more I babied him, the more he drank. His weekends became seven days long, and I was drinking more too, trying to "understand" him. I hated myself so much that I figured we deserved each other—he'd destroyed all my self-confidence: Could anyone want the "fool" he insisted I was?

Finally I realized this kind of love was killing me, especially since he found himself an 18-year-old girl he could manipulate better. He kept her to do his housework and sleep with him, but took me out to show off as his "college girl date." I finally left the whole mess.

Now, I'm seeing a dear friend of mine who happens to be my ex's friend too. It isn't love (I'm through with THAT for a while), but we're good pals. He's helping me get my head back together.

But...my ex has such an ego hangup that he thinks I'm trying to get back at him by seeing his buddy. The other night he even managed an "emergency" so my pal broke a date with me 20 minutes before we were to go out. Ex won't quit till he destroys our friendship, and probably others I'll have in the future.

Should I call this jerk and tell him to leave my life alone? What can I do with an egomaniac who pulls the strings no matter how I try to cut loose?—PUPPET

You'll only feed his self-importance if you phone this dog in the manger. Pity him as a manipulator whose ego trip is a lonesome journey to nowhere. Demolish him (to yourself and others) with "I feel so sorry for poor——. He'll be an overage adolescent all his life."

And forget him! I know this is hard, when a fascinating man (isn't it sad how cruelty attracts?) has dominated almost a year of your life. But once you REALLY cut the strings, he can't hurt you.—Helen

Dear Puppet: Don't look at him as a dog in the manger, but a "Mangy dog," and LAUGH when you say it. The only "friends" you'll lose because of him are ones you'd be better off without.—SUE

Dear Rap: I'm almost 16. I help out at the home of a married friend, Georgia, who is a sort of distant cousin of my mother. Our families are real close, and Georgia often asks me over to stay a weekend or longer. She works, so I fix meals for her husband, Nat, and take care of the house.

Nat is 28, and very affectionate, but Georgia doesn't pay much attention to him. He's been kissing and hugging me a lot but I thought it was just his way. The other night he came into my bedroom and started saying kinda wild things. I felt like screaming, but I didn't.

If I refuse to go over to their house, Georgia and Mom will be hurt. If I tell, there goes a marriage. I don't want to lose a great friendship.—HELP

P.S. It's fun taking care of a house and pretending it's mine. I like that part.

Dear Help:

While you're playing house, Nat is making a play for you, and you don't know the rules well enough to play this kind of game. I suspect you're more than a little fascinated—and that's dangerous, especially when you excuse his come-ons with Georgia's coldness. (Maybe even encourage them a bit, right?)

Get so busy with school and your own social life that you "just can't make it this weekend, Georgia," and plan never to be alone with Nat—at his house or yours.—HELEN

Dear Help: —And tell him (if he DOES corner you) that you don't dig junior dirty old men—just before you stomp on his instep!—SUE

Demands Aid to Short People

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Wendell Wagner is only 4-feet-10½ tall and he says it is about time someone came to the aid of small people.

So Wagner has posted a list of demands on the bulletin board at the New College campus here.

They include a course on the history of short people, redesigned library bookshelves for shorties, bodyguards for short people to ward off assault by tall people and an end to "other attempts to ridicule us, such as giving us mail boxes too high to reach."

Dartmouth to Admit Women

HANOVER, N.H. (AP) — Trustees of Dartmouth College have adopted coeducation and a year-round academic calendar in what they describe as a major new experiment. Women will be admitted for the first time as baccalaureate degree candidates in September 1972.

Enrollment will be increased from the current level of 3,200 men to approximately 4,000 by the fall of 1975, the college announced Sunday. Of that total, 3,000 will be men and 1,000 or more will be women.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY AP Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP) — There will be a regular Mitzi Gaynor festival on television during the next couple of weeks: the singing and dancing star will be seen on two occasions. That's a lot—Mitzi likes to limit her TV exposure to once every year or so.

First there will be ABC's three-hour broadcast of the 1958 film version of Rodgers and Hammerstein's landmark musical, "South Pacific," Wednesday night. Then on Dec. 9 she will be a guest star on "Perry Como's Winter Show" for NBC. "South Pacific," Mitzi says, was the greatest single break in her career. Every actress who could sing and dance yearned for the role of Nellie Forbush, which Mary Martin had played on Broadway.

"It was sometime in 1956, I guess," she recalled, "and I went to see Josh Logan, the director, about a production of some other musical. Of course, I wanted to do 'South Pacific' desperately but I didn't think there was a chance. When he opened the door, he smiled and said, 'Oh, yes, you're here to talk about Nellie.' I just nodded: I couldn't speak."

Mitzi moved into television with a couple of very well received specials. Her husband-manager, Jack Bean, now is planning another, maybe even two.

"We have a one-woman show that plays theatres," said Mitzi. "It takes about 45 people to put on a one-woman show. We also play Las Vegas. It works out nicely. I work about 18 weeks out of the year unless there is something in films or television I want to do. Most of the time I live like a housewife in Beverly Hills. I keep in shape by jogging. Television is fine, but I want to make my appearances seem very special, so I space them. You last longer."

She was eager to do the Como special, she said, because she had always wanted a chance to work in a sketch with Art Carney, another guest star.

NBC tonight begins a reshuffling of some programs. "James Garner as Nichols" will be transferred into the lineup from Thursdays. Viewers will get a double dose of "Ironside" this week, too. The program will be broadcast in its regular spot tonight and another episode will be seen in its future position on Thursday evening.

COSTLY EDUCATION

AUSTIN (AP) — A Texas resident who entered the University of Texas this fall can expect to pay approximately $8,827 for his four-year education, the school says.

By 1976, the entering freshman student can look forward to a four-year tab of $11,271 and by 1980 that projected figure will have risen to $13,698, according to the office of Student Financial Aids.

Nebraska's Defense Will Test Oklahoma Offense

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Hanging out the college football wash:
What they're saying about the big game:
Coach Bob Devaney, Nebraska—"I'm over the flu and now I've got a case of nervousness."
"There's another aspect of this game that might be as much a key as the Nebraska defense against the Oklahoma offense. The key might lie in how well we move on them."
"I've never seen an offense as dangerous from any spot on the field as Oklahoma's."
"Oklahoma gets great value from their speedy halfbacks, Greg Pruitt and Joe Wylie, but their greatest value just may lie in quarterback Jack Mildren."
"We haven't faced a Wishbone offense since the Oklahoma game last year, and then we did a relatively poor job of defending it, although we won 28-21."
"We haven't had a great deal of success in Norman, although we had a good game two years ago (44-14). It would be nice to stay in Lincoln and not make the trip down there."
"We'll probably use some variations of the defense that Notre Dame and UCLA used against Texas last season."
Coach Chuck Fairbanks, Oklahoma—"We're in the best shape we've been in for several weeks. We expect Joe Wylie to play at full strength for the first time in several weeks. Defensive linemen Raymond Hamilton and Derland Moore are much better."
"Nebraska's defense has created so many real fine scoring opportunities for the offense. I think our offense will really have its work cut out."
"Nebraska has exceptional team speed on defense. We've seen quite a few defenses against our Wishbone. Several teams have left their basic defense against us, primarily in the secondary. Most crowd their secondary up real close, overcommitting to the running game. We've had some success because of this."
"I think our own defense is found with good speed. But it's not overpowering. It's not so strong that it can go back in the game and stop the other team cold and get the ball all the time. We come up with big plays rather than shutting a team down completely."
"Nebraska is primarily a two-formation team. They use the I a lot in their running game with a lot of play-action passes. An almost equal amount of the time they run from a spread formation with two wide receivers on each side and only one running back. From that formation they're pretty much wide open, with a lot of dropback passes and draw plays, some option to the fullback and lots of screens."
Ken Johnson, Colorado quarterback—"Nebraska's got the better defense, but I think Oklahoma has got the better offense. It's gonna be unreal."
Coach Eddie Crowder, Colorado—"The outcome of the game will depend on which team can play the best defense."
Dean Carlson, Iowa State quarterback—"I don't usually make any predictions, but I'll say Nebraska will beat them two touchdowns. I think the Minnesota Vikings are the only ones who have a defense like theirs."
Lee Snider, Oklahoma State scout and freshman coach—"Nebraska is as big or bigger than any Nebraska team we have seen in recent years. The impressive thing about Nebraska is that they do it all well. Their defense gives them so many great opportunities. Their defensive line looks like a professional team. They have great size and they are very agile."

Frazier Meets Daniels in New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Depending on your point of view, young Terry Daniels could have the chance few fighters ever get when he meets heavyweight champion Joe Frazier in a 15-round title fight in New Orleans on Super Bowl Eve.
Super Bowl Eve will be Saturday, January 15, when New Orleans will be jammed with sports fans awaiting the kickoff of the National Football League's title game the next day.
The slugging Frazier, who dusted off Muhammad Ali in his last outing in March, and the 25-year-old Daniels signed the bout's contract yesterday.
Frazier, nattily dressed in a mod canary-colored suit with a splashed colored tie, said he wouldn't be taking Daniels lightly. Daniels, a native of Willoughby, Ohio and now a student at Southern Methodist University, brushed off suggestions the bout was a mismatch.
"I'm going to be in there smokin'," said Frazier. "I think a lot of this title and I'm going to hang on to it."
The 28-year-old champion is unbeaten in 28 bouts and has one of the finest lefts in boxing history. It was a thumping southpaw shot that decked Ali in their meeting last March.
"He's going to be in there trying to take away my title and I'm going to be trying to keep it," Frazier said.

Porkers Rated 17th in Grid Poll

NEW YORK (AP) — Nebraska's Cornhuskers are still sitting on top of The Associated Press College football poll like the classic immovable object.
But No. 2 Oklahoma has its irresistible force all ready for a classic showdown on Thanksgiving day.
Nebraska, the defending national champion, continued to dominate the voting, collecting 40 of the 55 available first place votes. But Oklahoma, with eight firsts, was a strong second, amassing 976 points to 1,024 for the No. 1 Cornhuskers.
Nebraska, boasting the nation's No. 1 team in total defense and second in defense against rushing and scoring, matches this strength against Oklahoma's 563.2-yard total offense average, the best in the country.
Alabama surged into third place ahead of Michigan, which barely beat Ohio State 10-7, adding significantly to the game Saturday in Birmingham, Ala., between the Crimson Tide and Auburn ranked No. 5.
The top three teams were idle last week, as were Auburn and Georgia which jumped a notch to No. 7.
In the other notable change in the week's rankings, Louisiana State crashed into the Top Ten—in the No. 10 position—on the strength of its impressive 28-8 triumph over Notre Dame at Baton Rouge.
The Fighting Irish, suffering their second setback of the campaign, tumbled from seventh to 13th.
In other games involving Top 10 teams, No. 6 Penn State walloped Pitt 55-18; ninth-ranked Arizona State bested San Jose State 49-6 and No. 10 Colorado shot down Air Force 53-17.
An additional poll of a special panel of 55 sports writers and broadcasters will be taken next Monday but the final poll, determining the national championship, will not take place until after the Jan. 1 bowl games.
The top six teams, all unbeaten, are involved in major bowls. Nebraska and Alabama clash in the Orange Bowl. Oklahoma and Auburn play in the Sugar Bowl. Michigan puts its 11-0 mark on the line against Stanford in the Rose Bowl while Penn State 10-0, No. 6 in the rankings, plays either Texas or Arkansas in the Cotton Bowl.

Sees Crack in Arkansas and Texas Grid Dynasty

By MIKE COCHRAN
Associated Press Writer
FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Texas Christian coach Billy Tohill says several teams loom as threats to the Texas-Arkansas football dynasty and "I sure as hell hope TCU is one of them."
Looking beyond this season, the rookie head tutor said he figures TCU and two or three other schools are going to become "involved" in future Southwest Conference title bouts.
"Texas and Arkansas have always been the powerhouses, so to speak," Tohill noted in the aftermath of TCU's chaotic 20-19 triumph Saturday over Rice.
But, he indicated, recent coaching changes around the conference reflect a determination to end the status quo.
"I think there's going to be some competitors," Tohill predicted.
Only Southern Methodist in 1966 and Texas A&M in 1967 have penetrated the Texas-Arkansas SWC stronghold since 1958 and shared it the next year with the Longhorns and Razorbacks.
Tohill, 32, youngest of the SWC head coaches, moved into the top job at TCU in the wake of Jim Pittman's fatal heart seizure seven games into the season.
Since then, the Horned Frogs have beaten Texas Tech and Rice and lost to Texas. The Christians can clinch no worse than third place with a victory in Saturday's finale against SMU.
Should the streaking Texas Aggies upset the Steers, the Frogs could share second with A&M and Texas, a half game behind Arkansas.
Tohill was reluctant to discuss the pending clash with SMU.
"I'll think about SMU tomorrow," he said. "After a game like this a man ought to rest a couple of weeks, but I can't."
Bearl Simmons' 41-yard field goal capped a clutch drive engineered by Steve Judy and enabled the Frogs to overtake the stunned Owls with 21 seconds left.
John Heatherly's two receptions and a gallant fourth down catch by Billy Sadler were the key plays in the march that carried TCU to its fifth victory of the year.
"That's the best catch I've ever made," Sadler said. "... But my happy moment was when I saw that ball go through the uprights."
The kick overshadowed a flurry of action in the final five minutes that included:
—A blocked TCU field goal attempt that the Owls' Bruce Henley converted into an 82-yard touchdown play.
—Frankie Grimmer's fierce rush that blocked the Rice extra point attempt and left TCU protecting a 17-16 lead.
—A dramatic 45-yard field goal by Mark Williams with 3:26 left that shoved the Owls out front 19-17.
"Someday," said TCU defensive end Gary Martinec, "I want to watch one like that from the stands."

Aggie Win Gets Them in the Liberty Bowl

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — The football team of Texas A&M has an added incentive to beat Texas Thanksgiving Day — the Liberty Bowl.
Officials of the Liberty Bowl told A&M Monday that if the school beats Texas it can compete in the Liberty Bowl against Tennessee.
Arkansas is tentatively set to face Tennessee in the bowl, but should the Aggies defeat the Longhorns, Arkansas would go to the Cotton Bowl as the leader of the Southwest Conference.
The Liberty Bowl will be nationally televised from Memphis at 8 p.m., Dec. 20.
The A&M team received the news about the bowl bid before practice Monday.
"It gave the team even more incentive to beat Texas — as if they needed it," a school spokesman said.

Falcons Stay Alive With 28-21 Win

By MIKE BARRON
Associated Press Sports Writer
ATLANTA (AP) — It's a three-team race in the National Football League's West Division now and the Atlanta Falcons feel that anything can happen.
The Falcons jumped right into the fight with a 28-21 victory over the Green Bay Packers in Monday night's nationally televised NFL game. They now trail the division-leading Los Angeles Rams by one game and the second-place San Francisco 49ers by just a half game.
"Anything can happen now," said Atlanta's defensive end John Zook, who along with the rest of Atlanta's front four made it hot for Green Bay quarterback Scott Hunter at night in the 31-degree weather.
"We just have to win our own games, not worry about the other teams."
Zook, end Claude Humphrey, and tackles Glen Condren and John Small each sacked Hunter once for a total of 31 yards and then Zook hit him in the end zone with just over a minute to go. Hunter fumbled out of the end zone for a safety, icing the Falcons' victory.
Prior to Monday night's game, Packer quarterbacks had only been dumped six times for 56 yards this season.
However, Falcon mistakes, especially in the kicking game, kept the Packers in the contest. Green Bay tackle Bob Brown blocked two placement attempts by Bill Bell, one on the first Atlanta extra point try and the other on a 37-yard field goal attempt. Cornerback Doug Hart picked up the ball and scored 57 yards for a touchdown to give Green Bay a 7-6 lead in the second quarter.
With Atlanta leading 26-14 in the final period, Art Malone fumbled and Ray Nitschke recovered for the Packers at the Atlanta 24. On the next play, John Brockington raced around the right side for 24 yards to put Green Bay right back in the game, 26-21.
But the Falcons' Tony Plummer knocked a Billy Lothridge punt out of bounds on the Packer one-yard line with 1:04 remaining and on the next play Zook hit Hunter for the safety.
The Packers led 14-12 at halftime, but Jim "Cannonball" Butler returned the second-half kickoff 82 yards to the Green Bay 19. Four plays later quarterback Bob Berry hit tight end Jim Mitchell for three yards and the go-ahead touchdown.
Butler got the second Atlanta touchdown on a two-yard run and Malone got the other two on one-yard plunges.

Phillips Appears Ready to Go for Aggie Game

By JACK KEEVER
Associated Press Writer
AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas Coach Darrell Royal glanced at a list of Texas A&M's offensive and defensive starters and says he remembers how hard he and his staff had tried to recruit 18 of them.
"They are people we wanted and wanted bad," Royal told a news conference Monday. "They have a number of names from the blue chip lists, a large number of them."
As Texas prepared for the Aggie game on Thanksgiving, Royal said quarterback Eddie Phillips was finally well enough to throw in drills. But he said he considered sub Donnie Wigginton the starter against the Aggies.
Phillips suffered a shoulder separation in the TCU game Nov. 13 and has not been able to raise his right arm until recently.
Texas must beat A&M Thursday to go to the Cotton Bowl for an unprecedented fourth straight time as Southwest Conference champions. If A&M wins or ties, Arkansas will represent the conference.
Asked if the 1971 Aggies are the best A&M team since he became Longhorn coach in 1957, Royal replied, "I wouldn't be surprised."
That would include the 1967 championship Aggie team which beat Texas 10-7 at College Station, the only time one of Royal's teams has lost to A&M.
While the partial recovery of Phillips has enabled Alan Lowry to return to working defensive backfield, safety Mike Bayer's sprained ankle has forced a complete reshuffling of the defensive secondary.
Lowry has been shifted to safety, and right halfback Mike Rowan has been moved to Lowry's old spot. Sub Gary Yeoman will fill in at Rowan's former position.
Royal also said 212-pound junior Tommy Lee, another sub, probably will start at linebacker in place of sophomore Bruce Cannon and Tommy Landry, who have alternated recently.
Royal said A&M has become a "more solid, sound football team each week. There is nothing real flashy about their offense—it is consistent, sound, solid and they've got good people to run it. On defense, it's about the same thing."
"They have eliminated all the confusion from their offense and that unmuzzles some guys with talent," Royal said. "It gets down to who can execute."

Gillman Bows Out From Chargers

By LEE MARGULIES
Associated Press Sports Writer
SAN DIEGO (AP)—Sid Gillman, who joined the San Diego Chargers at their birth 11 years ago, says he resigned as head coach and executive vice president after finding majority owner Eugene V. Klein "most reluctant" to discuss a new contract but quite willing to tell him what men should be playing.
Klein named Chargers General Manager Harland Sware, former head coach of the Los Angeles Rams, to take over Gillman's job Monday for San Diego's four remaining games. He said Sware would then return to the general manager's office and a new coach would be hired.
Gillman, whose five-year contract was to expire Dec. 31, said he requested a meeting with Klein Monday morning because he considered it unfair to continue working under the pressure of a public "countdown" about when the agreement ran out. He also said he had believed he had a lifetime contract with the Chargers.
The 60-year-old coach was one of the winningest in professional football although the Chargers are 4-6 this season. They suffered a frustrating 34-33 defeat to Oakland Sunday.
Gillman said Klein wanted him to bench—"I think the word he used was 'scrap'"—several players, including veteran quarterback John Hadl.
"Well, I'm coach and I could not accept having to be told not to play Hadl or any other players," Gillman told an afternoon news conference. "I'm coach and I do it as I feel."
Klein repeatedly praised Gillman's coaching ability at the same conference but would not discuss details of their meeting. He said Gillman was removed as coach "by mutual consent ... and in the best interest of the team."

Sooner Coach Says Complete Game Needed

By CHUCK FAIRBANKS
Oklahoma Football Coach
For The Associated Press
NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Thursday's game will be a rarity in college football history. Only a couple of times have two teams come to such a showdown. Our players and coaches are proud to be part of it.

There is no single key to victory against a team like Nebraska—we'll have to play a complete football game.

Defensively, we'll have to come up with the big plays. We can't afford to allow Nebraska to control the ball. They've been doing that all year with the passing of Jerry Tagge and a strong running game. They have tremendous balance.

In addition, we must have excellent coverage on punts and kickoffs. We'll have to find a way to contain Johnny Rodgers.

I don't expect Nebraska to change its attack much. They've had great success passing off the spread formation. We'll need to put pressure on Tagge up front and get excellent coverage in the secondary.

Of course, our offensive team is well aware that it is facing the best defensive team in the nation. We'll have to use variety in our attack to dent it and our execution and blocking must be exceptional. You can't have success against Nebraska and have an unusual number of errors.

Variety and the ability to adjust to game situations, I feel have been the keys to the success of our wishbone offense. We are not, as some may suppose because of our rushing yardage, an assaulting type of attack. We like to run downhill, adjusting our offense to counter the defensive situations confronting us. We will pass when we have to and success in passing has helped us win many games.

It is my hope that errors or fluke plays will not be a deciding factor in the game; that it will be won by the team with the best players. Then both teams will be able to walk off the field with their heads held high. There will be two fine football teams on the field Thanksgiving Day, but only one can win.

Indians' First Baseman Named Rookie of Year

By DAN TEDRICK
Associated Press Writer
ENCINITAS, Calif. (AP) — "It's the great thing in my life," Chris Chambliss said after being named American League Rookie of the Year Monday by the Baseball Writers Association of America. "This is my greatest honor—then, next year the pennant."

To win the pennant, the Cleveland Indians would have to rise about as fast as their strapping first baseman has since he entered pro baseball in 1970.

Chambliss played high school and junior college baseball in Oceanside, up the coast from this San Diego County community. After playing his senior year at UCLA he was picked by the Indians on the first round of the free agent draft.

Starting at Wichita of the class AAA American Association, a high berth for a first-year player, Chambliss won the batting title with a .342 average and was named the league's top rookie.

He wasn't on the Indians roster at the start of the 1971 season, but with starting first baseman Ken Harrelson talking about retirement, Cleveland called Chambliss up from the minors May 14.

Fifteen days later he was in the starting lineup, and three weeks after that, Harrelson, a former American League Most Valuable Player, had left baseball to give professional golf a whirl.

Chambliss hit a solid 275 in 111 games, with nine home runs and 48 runs batted in.

As an indication of the Indians' recent fortunes, Chambliss is their first rookie of the year since Herb Score won the honor in 1955, the year after their latest pennant.

But the young first baseman was hopeful. "I'd like to see us take the whole thing," he said.

Scouts Enter Homemade Car in Road Race
By BLOYS BRITT AP Auto Racing Writer GAINESVILLE, Ga. (AP) — If "The Junker" does well in this week's American Road Race of Champions the shouts of joy coming out of the north-west Georgia Hills will be from four Ohio Boy Scouts.

The "Junker" is a Triumph Spitfire. Just a little over a year ago, it was scattered in pieces in junk yards around the Akron Area.
The Scouts—David Frisbee, Buck Warner, David Cogan and Ray Sisco, all 17—salvaged the parts, helped put the car together, worked as members of the crew during a season of up-and-down racing, and will be on hand when the little bomb explodes into a racuous bellow at Road Atlanta this weekend.

The ARRC, fondly called the "Olympics of Auto Racing" by the Sports Car Club of America, pits the country's best club and amateur drivers against each other in a series of sprint races to determine 22 national class champions.
To get an invitation to the ARRC, a driver must finish at least fourth in his divisional class standings. At least 400 of them made it to Road Atlanta for the eighth running of the event.

"The Junker", with the four Scouts in tow, was among the first of the racing cars to check into the 2.52 mile facility near Gainesville Monday for three days of practice.
The spit and polish roadster belies its history.

The idea for "The Junker" came from Stan Crawford, a tire company credit analyst and advisor to a Scout post in Akron. Frisbee, Warner, Cogan and Sisco were among the youngsters who jumped at a chance to join. The project began in January with a $15 frame from a local junk yard.
The body came from two wrecks. The engine was found in another salvage yard. The transmission was borrowed

Nebraska Is Impressed With Sooner Offense

By BOB DEVANEY
Nebraska Football Coach
For The Associated Press
LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) —

From the standpoint of preparation, this Oklahoma Game Thursday is the most interesting I have had the opportunity to be involved in as a coach.

Oklahoma's wishbone offense is different from any we have faced this year, and they have ideal personnel for it. Quarterback Jack Mildren is a fine leader, a good runner and a good passer. Their halfbacks—Greg Pruitt, Joe Wylie and Roy Bell—have fine speed. Pruitt especially has been a great back all year, with tremendous speed and agility.

At fullback they have Leon Crosswhite, one of the most underrated ball carriers in the Big Eight Conference. He is the back that keeps the defense honest inside.

Oklahoma also has a fine offensive line. In watching films of their games with other opponents, our coaching staff has been impressed by the way their offensive line gets off the ball quickly. They have some great blockers in that line and their quickness is a great asset.

Oklahoma's defense also is underrated. In fact I feel Oklahoma could be the toughest defensive team we have faced this year.

To stop Oklahoma and move the ball against them, we simply have to do the things we have been doing, but do them better than we have at any time this season.

We can't throw out our whole defensive system because we are facing a type of offense we haven't seen yet this year. Yet we have to make some adjustments.

On offense, we will need a sound and solid mixture of passing and running. This balance has been the key to our offense. We can throw the ball and we can run the ball.

We are anxious to defend our No. 1 rating and we hope that against Oklahoma we can come up with the best game of the season, because it will require our best effort to defeat this fine Oklahoma team.

The state Racing Commission voted here Monday to retain a tighter control over off-track training farms.

The commission took that action after Pat Mahoney, a Hot Springs horse trainer, said that often unbroken horses are brought to Oaklawn Race Park.

He said the unbroken horses constituted a hazard for the horses and riders. He also said that unbroken horses interfered with the preparation of other horses.

Charles Cella, Oaklawn president, told the commission that he thought tighter control of off-track training farms would upgrade the quality of thoroughbred horse racing in Arkansas.

In other action Monday, the commission voted for a policy change which would mean that anyone who claims a horse in a race, must raise the claiming price by 25 per cent if he starts the horse in another race within 30 days.

Monday's action reverted to a previous ruling on claiming races.

from a friend of Crawford's. With 25-year-old Tom Johnson of Uniontown, Ohio, as driver, the car finished dead last in its first race. A week later, a burned piston kept it from qualifying for a start. The boys worked overnight rebuilding the engine and sympathetic race officials allowed Johnson to join the field at the rear of the pack. He finished third.

In September came two victories in three weeks, before the engine broke again while Johnson was grimly hanging on for the lead with only a lap to go. The boys worked night and day to rebuild for an Oct. 3 race at Indianapolis and Johnson finished third. He finished second a week later at Blackhawk Farms, giving the "Junker" enough points to qualify for the ARRC runoffs.

Do the boys think they can win a national championship? "Scouts honor, we can," they chorused.

Committee Set Up to Enforce Olympic Rules
LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP) — Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee, warning that he will not let the Games become a "competition between manufacturers," today announced appointment of a special watchdog commission to enforce stringent eligibility rules.

Hugh Weir of Australia to make certain National Olympic Committees are fully aware of their responsibilities and that competitors who are not eligible are not entered in the Games.
Brundage made plain that the watchdog commission will have sweeping powers.

If charges are made against any competitor, they will be referred to his National Olympic Committee and if any doubt exist the commission will have the right to interrogate the competitor in question.
A key section of the new eligibility rule "bars all those whose names or photographs have been used at any time with commercial advertising," Brundage noted.

But he said that "because of the alleged laxity of the National Olympic committees in the past, the IOC has appointed a special commission headed by

The public believes that top-flight bridge is enormously complicated. They are right to the extent that every expert pair has developed ways to handle as many unusual bidding situations as possible. Sometimes their bidding is complicated, but most of the time their bidding is right down the middle.

In today's hand, South has 17 high-card points and 4-4-3-2 distribution. Beginners are taught to open this hand with one no-trump. Experts make the same bid. The rule is: When your hand meets all requirements for a no-trump opening, then open no-trump.

Shave Calories to Lose Weight

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I am 53 years of age. About three years ago my menstrual period ceased and since then I have gradually gained approximately 25 pounds. My doctor tells me to diet, which I try, but to no avail.

Some women tell me that perhaps some help can be given to me from hormones given to me by a competent physician.

My health, thank God, is good, but this extra weight just drags me down and I'm very depressed because of my inability to lose any weight.

Would Swedish massages be beneficial to me?

Dear Reader—This is a fairly common problem. The truth is that accumulation of body fat is just like a bank account, if you put in more than you use, it grows.

Many women eat more calories than their bodies use after their periods stop, and some before then. It doesn't seem to be caused by an identifiable change in the North hand, the expert is likely to differ. The expert simply raises his partner to three no-trump. No guarantee goes with this bid, but he knows in the long run it will pay off.

With the South hand today, three no-trump is a spread. With other cards, there may be a play for three no-trump, or perfect defense may doom South. However, in all hands West will be making a blind lead, since he received no information from the bidding.

If the beginner has been taught properly, he also bids three no-trump. Otherwise, he bids some number of diamonds and winds up making a part-score, goes down at five diamonds or gets to the same no-trump game.

glandular control of body metabolism. In most cases it is likely related to decreased metabolism associated with decreased levels of physical activity. Some women get bored about this time, too, particularly if the children are gone, and eat more than they realize out of boredom.

People often scoff about the effects of decreased physical activity, not realizing that it only takes a very little decrease in physical activity or a very little increase in calories to gradually gain a lot of weight. Just four level teaspoons (not rounded) of sugar a day for three years can account for over 20 pounds of fat accumulation.

Just decreasing the level of physical activity an amount equal to 20 minutes of walking a day will result in gaining 25 pounds in three years if the calories are not reduced.

The problem most people have is being consistent—restricting their food every day or doing that little amount of exercise every day. The other problem is knowing which foods to limit in quantity. There are the foods that have a lot of calories for a small bulk, specifically the sweets including sugar, the flours and flour products and the fats, occurring naturally or as part of food. A diet using lots of vegetables, fruit and lean meat, poultry or fish can be tolerated by most people and, if used consistently, will produce results.

Female hormones are helpful in some women, perhaps because they stimulate them to be more active. Massage of all types may feel good but won't do much to help you lose fat deposits. I think all women who have this problem should do two things—first, list everything they eat for a week, then eliminate some regular item, like sugar in coffee. Second, add a 15- to 30-minute exercise period to their daily routine and do it regularly every day. At the end of the year, if they are patient, they will begin to see some results in undoing what has been accomplished by slipping just a little every day for several years.

Henderson Faces Tough Challenge

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer

FT. MEADE, Md. (AP) — Col. Oran K. Henderson faces one of the toughest challenges today in his 30 years as a career soldier: defending himself against charges that he tried to conceal the My Lai massacre.

Henderson, 51, is to testify in an effort to convince a jury of seven officers that he tried diligently to learn the truth about the infantry assault on the village but was frustrated by subordinates who deceived him.

He is the lone officer, among 13 once accused, to stand trial for allegedly covering up the killing of 175 to 400 unresisting villagers by American troops.

The three charges—willfully failing to conduct a proper investigation, failing to report "incidents and acts thought or alleged to be war crimes" and lying under oath—carry a maximum penalty of 39 months in prison.

Henderson, a highly decorated officer, was the commander of the 11th Brigade of the Americal Division, which swept through My Lai on March 16, 1968.

After-action reports listed 128 Viet Cong killed in fierce battle, along with 20 noncombatants inadvertently trapped in artillery and helicopter gunship fire.

One of the pilots flying cover for the troops returned to his base complaining that soldiers had shot into groups of huddled civilians and that he had had an argument with an American lieutenant whose troops were advancing on a batch of civilians.

The pilot's commanders testified they relayed this story to Brig. Gen. George H. Young Jr., the Americal Division's assistant commander, and said Young ordered Henderson to conduct an investigation.

Six weeks after My Lai Henderson wrote a 1½-page letter to Maj. Gen. Samuel W. Koster, the division commander, repeating the body count of 128 Viet Cong and concluding again that 20 civilians died accidentally.

Koster testified he then ordered a more formal investigation and received a thick document containing the signed statements of 15 to 20 witnesses. The document, allegedly prepared by the late Lt. Col. Frank A. Barker, has never been found. Word of the massacre remained bottled in the Americal Division for a year until a former GI wrote congressmen that he had heard that "something rather dark and bloody had occurred."

Remarks You're Pretty Sure to Hear at Big Family Turkey Dinner

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks you're pretty sure to hear at any big family Thanksgiving dinner:

"Isn't it done yet?"

"Do you really think a 24-pound turkey is big enough for 16 people?"

"I'd say give it at least another hour. Don't you remember the year Bertha cooked her first turkey, and it tasted almost like raw rubber?"

"For the last time, get out of this kitchen. If another man puts a foot in here the rest of the day, I'll throw the turkey right out the window."

"Why is it turkey all the time on Thanksgiving? Personally, I'd rather have some nice plump baked chicken."

"Isn't it done yet?"

"Fixing all the trimmings for a Thanksgiving dinner is so much fuss and bother that every year I threaten it's the last one and next year I'll ask Eddie to take me out."

"Oh, you never really will. That wouldn't be any fun, Margaret. Thanksgiving isn't Thanksgiving anywhere except at home."

"Yes, I know. But it's still such a nuisance, and the smell of turkey gets into the drapery and stays there for days."

"All the men are starting at the television set as if they were watching the Second Coming. Since when did football become the main part of Thanksgiving? The Pilgrim Fathers

Telephone Co. Charged With Discrimination

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Raymond L. Smith of North Little Rock, an employee of Allied Telephone Co., filed suit in U.S. District Court here Monday charging that his employer had discriminatory policies in its personnel operations.

Smith, who is black, is a mail clerk.

The suit said that a white clerk who was hired about the same time as Smith four months ago quit. The suit said that Smith did the work of both men for about a week. Then, the suit said, the company hired a white supervisor for his department.

Smith said in his suit the white supervisor had not worked for the company previously. He also said he was as qualified for the position as the new supervisor.

The suit is asking that the company be enjoined from practicing racial discrimination.

didn't play football, did they?"

"Isn't it done yet?"

"I think you'd better slow down, Jim. That's your third one already, and the day is still pretty young."

"Remember, when all our children were young, and there were so many of them that we had two sittings at the table for the kids before we could get a bite ourselves?"

"Yes, if the kids weren't in such a hurry to grow up and fly away, this would be a nicer world."

"Well, I guess we've got a lot to be thankful for. Our family is dwindling so that any year is a good year in which none of us dies."

"Yes—or loses his job."

"I'll drink to that. Lift your glasses. Here's a toast to the family."

"Have you noticed that every time Frank comes into the kitchen to look at the turkey, he takes an extra snifter?"

"Well, it's done and on the table at last! You men leave that television set and sit down—or I'll really throw the turkey out the window. Fred, you say grace. You're the only one who got a raise this year."

May Limit Production of Pep Pills

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department is readying the nation's first production limits on pep pills, amid indications the drug industry may be permitted to make as many, if not more, than it did this year.

The department's Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs says its final decision will be influenced greatly by a recommendation lost in government channels two months ago, and now being hastily resuscitated by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Meanwhile, a study under way by the Food and Drug Administration on the safety and effectiveness of amphetamines and methamphetamines for short-term weight control could wipe out most of the legitimate market for these frequently abused drugs.

The bureau is shooting for a Friday decision on 1972 production quotas authorized by the 1970 Drug Control Act, and for publication in the Federal Register at the end of this month.

Although refusing to release specific figures, a bureau attorney said pharmaceutical manufacturers have requested a significant increase over 1971 production, estimated at 3.5 billion pep pills in 10-milligram units.

Two public-interest groups already have fired off letters of concern to bureau Director John Ingersoll, requesting that quotas be tightened.

The Task Force on Drug Abuse, a private, nonprofit organization, said it understands the bureau will not decrease production quotas and that manufacturers are asking for an increase.

"To follow either course the BNDD would officially sanction the widespread overproduction, diversion and prescription abuse of these drugs," the task force letter said.

The Hope Lion's noon meeting Monday at the Town and Country was devoted entirely to preparation for the coming annual Christmas Auction.

Cecil O'Steen and Royce Pendergrass, Co-chairmen of the committee concerned with procurement of items to be auctioned, handed out assignments to each Lion present.

The auction will be held in the lobby of the First National Bank and broadcast over KXAR on December 2, 3 and 4 beginning at 6:30 p.m. on Thursday and Friday evenings and at 12:30 noon on Saturday.

Other business relative to the auction was discussed and the meeting was adjourned.

Uruguay Is Gearing for Election

By ROBERT D. OHMAN
Associated Press Writer

MONTEVIDEO (AP) — Uruguay's capital is winding up the campaign for Sunday's general election in a blaze of rallies, oratory and enthusiasm.

Montevideo, where 1.4 million of the country's 3 million people live has a daily display of color and sound that would do credit to Mardi Gras.

The voters will elect a president and vice president, all 30 senators, 99 members of the House of Deputies, and mayors for the country's 19 districts.

There are 11 candidates for president—seven from the ruling Colorado party, two from the National party, one from the leftist Broad Front coalition and one from a faction that splintered off the Christian Democrats when they joined the Broad Front.

The major candidates are expected to be President Jorge Pacheco Areco, seeking reelection; Wilson Ferreira Aldunate of the Nationals and retired Gen. Liber Seregni of the Broad Front.

Loudspeakers attached to telephone poles and neighborhood political clubs keep up a din of speeches, pledges and party songs from midmorning to late at night. They are often drowned out by hundreds of cruising trucks and autos with their own scratchy loudspeaker systems.

All of the parties have their colors splashed on walls, streets, trees and even slow-moving strollers: red and white for the Colorados, blue and white for the Nationals and red, white and blue for the Broad Front.

Few trees lining the avenues have been spared the painted bands of the Front. Black after block of sidewalk curbs are also checkered with the tricolor.

Hundreds of teen-age girls and boys wearing the orange shirts of the Christian Democrats parade through the city, singing and passing out pamphlets for the Broad Front.

Groups of youngsters wearing blue and white armbands slow traffic on the highways and stuff National party leaflets into passing cars.

The Colorado's held a week-end night rally that drew nearly 20,000 persons and turned the Avenue 18th of July into a sea of scarlet banners.

Red scarfs or bows were given to the onlookers.

Youths snakedanced through the throng, and cheerleaders with red and white flags led songs and cheers to punctuate three hours of speeches.

Officers Told They Won't Be Reprimanded

By ROBERT A. DOBKIN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A two-star general and four other high-ranking officers have been told they will be demoted or reprimanded as a result of the most devastating attack on a U.S. firebase during the Vietnam war, it has been learned.

The five, including Maj. Gen. James L. Baldwin, former commander of the ill-starred Americal Division, received letters three weeks ago notifying them of the proposed administrative action approved by Army Secretary Robert F. Froehke.

Each was given 60 days to present evidence that could change the secretary's mind regarding the punishment, which does not require trial by court-martial.

The Army refused comment until final action on the case is completed.

Pentagon sources said Froehke acted on recommendation of Gen. William C. Westmoreland, Army chief of staff and former commander of all U.S. forces in Vietnam.

The incident has been under investigation since March 28, when enemy sappers attacked Firebase Mary Ann, killing 33 Americans and wounding 76.

The sources said Westmoreland recommended that Baldwin be reprimanded and demoted to brigadier general. But Froehke the sources said, overruled Westmoreland and decided that a reprimand, normally a bar to further promotion, would be sufficient.

Baldwin, 50, was relieved of command of the division last July and reassigned to a desk job in the office of the deputy chief of staff for logistics at the Pentagon.

The informant said the Army investigation cited Baldwin for "failure to insure that adequate defense measures were taken" around Firebase Mary Ann, a battalion headquarters of the Americal's 196th Infantry Brigade 25 miles west of Chu Lai division headquarters.

Some officers and enlisted men claimed after the attack that the base's defenses were lax and the troops were not prepared for an enemy assault. A native of Omaha, Neb., Baldwin entered the Army as an enlisted man with the Kansas National Guard 31 years ago.

The letters notifying Baldwin and the others of the proposed punishment were signed by the Army adjutant general and issued "with the concurrence" of Froehke, the sources said.

Similar administrative punishment was carried out earlier this year against another former Americal commander, Maj. Gen. Samuel W. Koster, and his former assistant, Brig. Gen. George H. Young Jr. Both were accused of failing to properly investigate the 1968 My Lai massacre.

U.S. Abandons Hopes for Mid East Settlement

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has abandoned, at least for now, attempts to negotiate a temporary settlement between Israel and Egypt.

A U.S. official said Monday: "We are of the belief that while neither Egypt nor Israel has closed the door entirely to an interim agreement it seems clear in the light of recent publicly expressed reservations on both sides that in the next few weeks the principal pre-occupation" will be with the U.N. General Assembly.

Officially, American sources have refused to bury the interim agreement plan but as one official said "as a practical matter the focus now is on" the U.N. debate.

The United States has never opposed directly a fullscale U.N. debate on the Mideast, but Secretary of State William P. Rogers and other U.S. spokesmen have shown a clear distaste for such public displays and have favored quiet diplomacy.

U.S. policy has aimed at reaching peace through the reopening of the Suez Canal while increasing American influence in the Arab world and still maintaining basic support for Israel.

said, was a ruling that flatly banned "all sex discrimination."

Ironically, shortly after the court announced its decision, a proposed constitutional amendment to guarantee women equal rights was rejected by a Senate Judiciary subcommittee.

In its place the subcommittee approved 6 to 4 a substitute by Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., that prohibits legal distinctions between men and women except on the basis of "physiological or functional differences."

The proposed amendment cleared the House last month 265 to 87. Ervin, a chief foe, said the Supreme Court ruling proved an amendment was not needed.

3 Pakistan Planes Down, India Claims

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
India claimed three Pakistani warplanes were shot down in a dogfight near Calcutta on Monday as both the Indians and Pakistanis reported heavy fighting along East Pakistan's borders.

A Cabinet minister told a cheering Indian Parliament in New Delhi today that the F-86 Sabre Jets were shot down by four Indian-built Gnat jets 30 miles northeast of Calcutta. A fourth Pakistani fighter escaped, said V. C. Shukla, minister of defense production.

Shukla said the Indian fighters intercepted the Pakistanis three miles inside India. He reported that the Pakistani pilots bailed out of their shot-up planes and two of the three were captured.

The minister said all four Indian planes returned safely to their base.

Radio Pakistan reported that President Agha Mohammed Yahya Khan ordered a state of emergency throughout Pakistan because of a "threat of foreign aggression." The reason for his proclamation was not clear since Pakistan has been under martial law since March 1969.

Pakistani broadcasts charged that India had launched an all-out offensive into East Pakistan at four scattered points.

The Pakistani radio and an army spokesman in Dacca, the capital of East Pakistan, said hard fighting continued today near Jessore.

The Indians said East Pakistan's Bengali rebels made massive strikes across the border and denied that Indian troops were involved.

The Pakistanis charged that the Indians had swept into East Pakistan without a formal declaration of war.

Pakistan's delegation to the United Nations said it was considering calling for an emergency session of the Security Council.

The crisis stems from the Pakistani army's crackdown on the East Pakistani independence movement last March. A state of civil war has prevailed ever since in East Pakistan, or East Bengal, and the East Pakistani guerrillas known as the Mukti Bahini have been getting supplies and training across the border in neighboring areas of India.
